Read the following passage and choose the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

Some experts believe that teenagers today feel more anxious and have lower self-esteem because of the impact of social media and texting. Online communication is different from face-to-face interaction since teens often miss out on body language and facial expressions, which can cause misunderstandings and make real conversations feel intimidating.

Many teens also feel insecure when they see others looking perfect online. To compensate, they share photos that appear flawless, but this can make them feel worse if their online image doesn't match their real feelings.

Parents can support their children by being role models in how they use technology. They should spend quality time with their kids, create tech-free spaces and times at home, and encourage children to get involved in hobbies or activities they enjoy. When kids focus on what they can do instead of how they look or what they own, they often feel happier and more confident.

Question 28. According to experts, why do teens often feel more anxious today?

Read the following passage and choose the letter A, B, C or D to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

Maintaining a healthy lifestyle is crucial for our overall well-being. It involves a combination of a balanced diet, regular physical activity, and adequate rest. A balanced diet provides our body with the necessary nutrients to function correctly, while regular exercise helps to keep our body strong and fit.

Firstly, what we eat has a direct impact on our health. A diet rich in fruits, vegetables, and whole grains can reduce the risk of many chronic diseases, such as heart disease and diabetes. It is also important to limit the intake of processed foods, sugary drinks, and unhealthy fats. These foods can lead to weight gain and other health problems.

Secondly, physical activity is essential for both physical and mental health. Engaging in at least 30 minutes of moderate exercise most days of the week can strengthen your bones and muscles, improve your mood, and boost your energy levels. Activities can include brisk walking, swimming, cycling, or playing a sport.

Finally, getting enough sleep is just as important as diet and exercise. Quality sleep allows our bodies to rest and repair. Lack of sleep can lead to fatigue, poor concentration, and a weakened immune system. By adopting these healthy habits, we can significantly improve our quality of life and feel our best every day.

Read the following passage and choose the letter A, B, C or D to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

In today's digital age, the way we consume news has changed dramatically. Instead of waiting for the morning newspaper or the evening television news, people can now get instant updates on their smartphones. Social media platforms and online news websites have become major sources of information for many, especially young people.

This shift has both advantages and disadvantages. On the one hand, information is more accessible than ever before. We can learn about events happening on the other side of the world in real-time. This can make us feel more connected to the global community.

On the other hand, the vast amount of information can be overwhelming. It can be difficult to distinguish between reliable news sources and "fake news." Misinformation can spread rapidly on social media, leading to confusion and mistrust. It is, therefore, crucial for everyone to develop critical thinking skills to evaluate the information they encounter online.

Parents and schools play an important role in teaching young people how to be responsible digital citizens. They should encourage them to check sources, compare different reports of the same event, and be aware of the biases that can be present in news coverage. By doing so, we can all make the most of the opportunities offered by the digital age while avoiding its pitfalls.
