Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the questions from 13 to 22.

(I) The rise of green technology has been remarkable in recent years, primarily driven by the urgent need to combat climate change. (II) As awareness of environmental issues increases, more businesses and individuals are adopting sustainable practices, leading to a significant transformation in various industries. (III) Many factors contribute to this global trend, which brings about both challenges and opportunities. (IV)

There are numerous incentives that encourage companies to embrace green technology. For example, many companies are implementing energy-efficient systems because they reduce operating costs. Furthermore, governments are offering tax breaks and grants to encourage businesses to invest in renewable energy sources, which can be financially beneficial. Conversely, implementing new technologies may require substantial initial investment and training for staff, which can be a barrier for some organizations.

The adoption of green technology has far-reaching impacts on both the environment and society. First, using renewable energy sources helps reduce carbon emissions, which is essential for combating global warming. Second, businesses that adopt sustainable practices often find themselves at a competitive advantage, attracting eco-conscious consumers and improving their brand image. However, not all companies can afford the transition to green technology, leading to disparities between those that can and cannot adapt.

Green technology is a multifaceted concept, and understanding its implications is crucial. By focusing on innovation and sustainable practices, we can work towards a future where economic growth and environmental preservation coexist harmoniously.

- A. energy-efficient systems B. tax breaks
C. government grants D. initial investment costs

Question 17: Which of the following best summarizes paragraph 3?

- A. Adopting green technology is beneficial only for larger organizations with significant resources.
- B. The adoption of green technology has significant benefits for the environment and businesses but creates disparities among companies based on their ability to transition.
- C. The use of renewable energy leads to increased emissions and higher operating costs.
- D. Disparities between companies that can and cannot transition to green technology are minimal.

Question 18: The word eco-conscious in paragraph 3 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____

- A. eco-beneficial
- B. ecological aware
- C. ecologically careless
- D. harmful

Question 19: Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

- A. Businesses adopting sustainable practices face minimal challenges.
- B. Governments are solely responsible for the transition to green technology.
- C. There are both benefits and drawbacks to implementing green technology.
- D. Green technology has no impact on consumer behavior.

Question 20: Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in paragraph 4?

- A. Without understanding green technology, companies cannot achieve sustainable growth.
- B. A clear understanding of green technology's implications is unnecessary for innovation.
- C. Understanding the impact of green technology is straightforward and requires minimal effort.
- D. It is essential to understand the many dimensions of green technology and its effects.

Question 21: Which of the following can be inferred from the passage?

- A. The cost of transitioning to green technology is the only barrier for businesses.
- B. Green technology is solely focused on reducing carbon emissions without economic considerations.
- C. Innovative practices can help overcome the challenges of transitioning to green technology.
- D. All companies are equally capable of adopting green technology.

Question 22: Which of the following best summarises the passage?

- A. Green technology is driven by environmental necessity, offering benefits and challenges for businesses.
- B. The growth of green technology is irrelevant to climate change and environmental issues.
- C. The demand for green technology is decreasing as businesses revert to traditional practices.

LISTENING:

Listen and fill in the blank with ONE WORD.

Many people assume that video games have a (34) _____ effect on young people. A lot of time in front of a screen is bad for the mind and the body, and combat games cause concern because they contain violence. Newspapers often express the same opinion. However, according to a report in American Psychologist, playing video games can be good for children's education, health and social skills.

Video games can actually improve certain (35) _____ skills. Combat games, for example, teach players to think in three dimensions. This helps children with science, technology, engineering and maths.

Other types of video game can have other positive effects. In 2013, research showed that children who play role-playing games get better grades at school than those who don't play them. Other (36) _____ showed that playing any video game improves children's creativity.

Quick and simple games like Angry Birds can improve players' mood and prevent them from feeling (37) _____. The report also says that video games teach children how to react well to failure because players continually fail and try again. This makes them emotionally strong in real life.

Video games can improve social skills too, the report says. More than 70% of gamers play with a friend, and many take part in online games, like Farmville, with millions of other people. The players learn how to lead a group, work together and make decisions. Overall, the (38) _____ accepts that some video games can have negative effects, but reminds us that they can have benefits too.
