Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions.

It is common among parents to complain about the viewing habits of TV addicted teens. Do they know something kids don't? Well, according to a recent study, too much TV could increase the odds of becoming depressed as an adult.

Researchers observed a sample of about 4,100 American teenagers for seven years. When first surveyed in 1995, they watched TV for an average of 2.3 hours each day. They also spent 37 minutes watching videos, 25 minutes playing computer games and 2.3 hours listening to the radio.

In 2002, when the same group was interviewed, 7.4% of them had developed symptoms of depression. The study showed that the number of hours of TV watched per day increased the risk of becoming depressed while similar activities, such as playing computer games and watching videos, did not. Teens who became depressed watched an average of 22 more minutes of TV per day than their peers. That relationship suggests that TV may be a part of the problem.

The results don't prove that TV viewing itself makes us feel sad or moody, but the evidence suggests a clear link. If you are a teenager, the next time your parents shout, "Turn that thing off!" don't roll your eyes and ignore them; go jogging, listen to music, chat online, anything to keep physically, and emotionally healthy!

Question 23: What is the main idea of the passage?

- A. Listening to the radio has no effect on mental health.
B. Parents should always monitor their children's online activities.

Question 26: The word "showed" in paragraph 3 is CLOSEST in meaning to _____.

- A. encouraged B. taught C. controlled D. found

Question 27: According to the passage, what does the article say about computer games?

- A. They are worse than watching videos.
B. They are not as bad as TV.
C. They are better than watching videos.
D. They are just as bad as TV.

Question 28: Which of the following is NOT TRUE about the findings in the study?

- A. Watching videos was not linked to an increased risk of depression.
