READING 1:

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

The Age of New Media

New media refers to forms of media that have developed through digital technologies. These technologies provide platforms that have completely changed how we're able to create, share and access information. With the rise of Internet and mobile devices, new media have quickly become a key part of our daily communication.

There are several types of new media, each with different uses. Social media platforms allow users to share news and updates in real time. Blogs and vlogs offer more detailed and personal stories, often aimed at people with specific interests. Podcasts provide a convenient way for individuals to get information on the go or while doing other activities. Likewise, streaming services have transformed entertainment by providing on-demand access to films, shows and music to people in the comfort of their own homes.

What primarily separates new media from traditional media is that they are more interactive. Unlike traditional media, new media platforms allow audiences to engage directly with content, giving them the power to participate in and influence discussions. Additionally, new media platforms enable users to create original content themselves. This has enabled people to exchange ideas more easily, and allowed users worldwide to broaden their horizons by accessing a more diverse range of perspectives and opinions.

Looking forward, new media will surely continue to shape our society, including how we communicate, learn and interact with one another. As technology advances further, new media will offer even more interesting experiences, and will have a key role to play in creating global connections and understanding.

Question 27: What is the main idea of the first paragraph?

- A. People spend too much time on mobile devices these days.
- B. The Internet enabled people to improve their quality of life
- C. New media have changed the way people exchange information.
- D. New media wouldn't exist without digital technologies.

Question 28: Which of the following is NOT true according to the passage?

- A. Blogs and vlogs are often targeted to their audiences.
- B. Podcasts are not as easily accessible as other forms of new media.
- C. Streaming services revolutionised home entertainment.
- D. Social media platforms are a popular way of sharing news.

Question 29: The writer says that new media _____.

- A. are helping to develop a global society
- B. have some disadvantages compared to traditional media
- C. cause problems for those who want to see original content
- D. focus less on facts and more on opinions

READING 2:

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions.

Successful students often do the followings while studying. First, they have an overview before reading. Next, they look for important information and pay greater attention to it (which often needs jumping forward or backward to process information). They also relate important points to one another. Also, they activate and use their prior knowledge. When they realize that their understanding is not good, they do not wait to change strategies. Last, they can monitor understanding and take action to correct or "fix up" mistakes in comprehension.

Conversely, students with low academic achievement often demonstrate ineffective study skills. They tend to assume a passive role, in learning and rely on others (e.g., teachers, parents) to monitor their studying, for example, low-achieving students often do not monitor their understanding of content; they may not be aware of the purpose of studying; and they show little evidence of looking back, or employing "fix-up" strategies to fix understanding problems. Students who struggle with learning new information seem to be unaware that they must exert effort beyond simply reading the content to understand and remember it. Children with learning disabilities do not plan and judge the quality of their studying. Their studying may be disorganized. Students with learning problems face challenges with personal organization as well. They often have difficulty keeping track of materials and assignments, following directions, and completing work on time. Unlike good students who employ a variety of study skills in a flexible yet purposeful manner, low-achieving students use a restricted range of study skills. They cannot explain why good study strategies are important for learning; and they tend to use the same, often ineffective study approach for all learning tasks, ignoring task content, structure or difficulty.
